The Ripple Effect

Introduction:

Have you ever tried skipping a rock across a pond? Watching the rock impact the water, it's amazing how ripples are created from the spots the rock touches. The water that starts so calm that we can see ourselves...is changed by one pebble creating a ripple effect that spreads across the entire surface. Isn't this same principle true in our own lives? How we live, the things we do, the words we say, the moments we create are all creating ripple effects in the world around us. We are given the opportunity to leave a mark, yet it is up to us what type of mark that is.
